

ABSTRACT

A nutritional supplement for improving cardiovascular health via aiding in preventing, slowing the progression of and/or treating hypertension, the supplement comprising quercetin; and a method for aiding in preventing, slowing the progression of and/or treating hypertension are described.